

2003 WOMEN & WORK CONFERENCE

Friday, October 24, 2003

“Women Working to Make a Difference”

The Marten House Hotel & Lilly Conference Center
1801 West 86th Street
Indianapolis, IN

$70.00 per person

Includes continental breakfast, lunch, and resource materials

Our Vision

To improve the lives of all working women through social, economic, and political empowerment

The 2003 Women & Work Conference will give you the opportunity to meet other women, hear highly knowledgeable speakers and participate in a unique environment of self discovery and networking.

The topics at this year's conference will help you discover how you may enhance, explore and enrich your life. Our commitment is to provide you with an experience you find enlightening, provocative, inspirational, and informative.

OPENING WELCOME

Nancy J. Guyott, Commissioner
Indiana Department of Labor

Nancy J. Guyott is the first female Commissioner of Labor in Indiana and is also believed to be the youngest appointed to this post. As Commissioner, Ms. Guyott, heads the Indiana agency with primary regulatory jurisdiction over workplaces, therefore enforcing laws that cover: workplace safety and health, child labor, wage and hour, common construction wage, and some age discrimination concerns.

PANEL DISCUSSION

Women in Nontraditional Occupations

WORKSHOPS

Here's Your Hat ~ What's Your Hurry?

How to slow down and balance life when you have to wear many hats - all at one time. Slip on a party hat for this fun-filled, inter-active session offering practical "how-tos".

Carolyn Bunzendahl & Peggy Hans,
River Valley Resources

Nontraditional Employment: What is it and why it makes Cent$!

Learn to understand why some occupations are considered nontraditional and the paycheck economics of working in a nontraditional occupation.

Jim Heck & Kathy Clayton,
IN AFL-CIO LIFT

Leadership Development

Identify critical competencies required by future leaders; assess the impact of different leadership styles, and practicing performance management skills in the areas of goal setting and coaching.

Pastor Elaine Walters,
Eastern Star Church

Nontraditional Employment: Exploring Nontraditional Career Opportunities in Indiana

Learn how to use the Indiana Career and Postsecondary Advancement Center (ICPAC) to explore career opportunities, including nontraditional careers for women, and training in Indiana.

Indiana Career and Postsecondary Advancement Center

Women's Health & Well-being

Come learn the latest news, research and facts about Hormone Replacement Therapy (HRT) and Cancer learn about alternative treatment and much more.

Dr. Teri Greco, MD
IU Center for Excellence in Women's Health

Getting IT Across

Living in the information technology age brings with it new demands for work, workers, and workplaces. A participatory workshop on differences and demands related to succeeding in an information society, as compared with previous eras of lifetimes.

Thia Hamilton,
Women Work!

WORKSHOPS CON'T

The Financial Checkup

Get the tools needed to do a quick and easy annual assessment of your financial situation. Identify where you are now, where you want to be, and how to get there. Learn the keys to retiring financially secure.

Rebecca Haynes-Bordas, AFC
Purdue University Cooperative Extension Service

Women in the Building Trades

Connect with the organizations that work with apprenticeship coordinators throughout Indiana. Understand what it takes to get into an apprenticeship and how to succeed once you're in.

Indiana Plan & Leadership Development Institute

Women With A Business Dream!

Considering starting a business? Just recently started your business? Have you been in business for a while? Learn about the wealth of resources and services available through the Indianapolis Small Business Development and Small Business Administrative.

Mary Jane Gonzales,
Indianapolis Small Business Administration

Diversity: Overcoming Pink vs. Blue Stereotypes

Overtly or covertly...from cradle to grave, this workshop will provide insight on how to overcome the gender stereotypes that exist within society.

Dr. Rebecca Adams,
Ball State University, Dept. of Family and Consumer Sciences

CLOSING KEYNOTE SESSION

Thia Hamilton, Women Work!

Thia Hamilton serves as Deputy Director of Women Work!, the National Network for Women's Employment, located in Washington, D.C. Women Work! is a nationwide network of service providers and advocates for women whose lives are in social and economic transition. Women Work!'s vision is to see all women succeed in the American economy, and to see the American economy equitably value the contributions of all women.

REGISTRATION FEE

$70.00

Includes continental breakfast, lunch, and resource materials for one individual.

YES! I will be attending the 2003 Women & Work Conference. Please mail or fax your completed registration form to

INDIANA AFL-CIO Labor Institute for Training, Inc. (LIFT)

1701 West 18th Street
Indianapolis, IN 46202
Fax: (317) 638-1217

Please make checks payable to:
Women & Work Conference

Please type or print

Name

Organization

Address

City/State/Zip

Telephone:

Email

- ☐ Please check here to request vegetarian lunch.
- ☐ Check enclosed
- ☐ Will submit payment on or before October 24th.

For more information contact:
Darlene Knight at (317) 632-9147